How to Create Tests and Quizzes for WebCT©.

Did you know that there are several ways to set up tests for WebCT? Some options for test creation consist of:

- ExamView © Pro: A free downloadable product from Elsevier that can be used with provided question banks for test purposes. This product allows question banks to be sent directly into WebCT.
- Respondus©: A product that can be downloaded through the CIE Support Web page. This tool can be used to set up tests for printing or sending directly into WebCT.
- WebCT©: Questions and tests can be created directly in WebCT.

There are other software programs that come with textbooks that help you set up tests for WebCT. As long as they are compatible with WebCT format, any test builder can be a time saver.

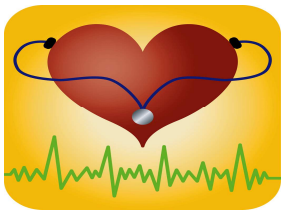

Health Sciences Resource Center Software Spotlight

C&S Solutions© Software is software designed for Respiratory Education but contains topics that can apply to other Allied Health and Nursing areas. Topics included are:

- Fluid , Electrolytes, and Acid-Base Balance
- Cardiac Electrophysiology & Electrocardiology
- Basic Arrhythmia Recognition
- Advanced Arrhythmia Recognition
- Blood Gas Sampling
- Clinical Application of Blood Gas

If you are interested in using any of the C & S Solutions software or would like to explore our other software for students, please contact Laricia Craig at Ext. 2504 or lcraig@wallace.edu.

Features of Tests and Quizzes in WebCT©.

There are multiple options when setting up a test or quiz in WebCT. Below are some of the features :

- Student Question Delivery: Question view can be set for students to see all questions at one time, one question at a time with a question revisit available, and/or one question at a time where they cannot revisit after moving on to a new question.
- Time: A specific amount of time can be set for test completion.
- Attempts: Single, multiple, or unlimited attempts for a quiz or test may be designated.
- Availability: Specific dates and times for the test or quiz may be arranged.
- Score Release: Scores can be released in several ways to students. Grades can be immediately released once the quiz is over, when all questions have been graded, or when the availability period is over.
- Security: Passwords for the test can be set for student access.
